 Supporting Colorado's Families

Families across Colorado are receiving assistance toward increased self-sufficiency through the Colorado Works Program – Colorado’s Temporary Assistance for Needy Families (TANF) program.

The Colorado Works Program helps vulnerable and struggling families become self-sufficient by strengthening their economic and social stability. Our department, in partnership with 64 counties and hundreds of nonprofit organizations throughout the state, stands firmly behind our mission to support all Colorado families in their efforts to become stable, strong, safe and self-sufficient.

As with many programs in the state, Colorado Works provides a great deal of local flexibility for counties to make decisions, implement programs and provide services to meet the needs of the community. Annually, we allocate the vast majority of Colorado’s federal TANF block grant to counties statewide. I am proud and impressed by the quality of the assistance and programs each county in the state provides to serve the unique needs of its residents.

In addition to the county block grants, the legislature has appropriated TANF funds for innovative and statewide programs serving low-income families through the Statewide Strategic Use Fund and special appropriations for housing and employment services through our sister state agencies.

This resource booklet is designed to share information about many of the programs that have been supported through Colorado’s TANF program. It highlights some of the incredible work being done in our great state to support Colorado’s most vulnerable families.

Finally, I want to take this opportunity to thank each of our funded programs and county departments for their hard work and dedication to serving families throughout Colorado.

Sincerely,

Karen Beye
Executive Director
